

LETS GO SHOPPING

Updated October 2008

This is just a guide to prices only, some of the prices are what we have paid and some are from other peoples reports. So if you pay more or less for something, it doesn't matter. PAY WHAT YOU ARE HAPPY WITH - just remember, sometimes you are squabbling over cents, is it really worth doing that.

The best way to get a bargain is never lose your cool or raise your voice, always barter with a smile and a few words of Thai will not go astray and your attempts will be much appreciated.

These prices are from various shops, stalls and markets around Patong. There is also some individual shops and market prices at the end of page.

PHUKET AIRPORT DUTY FREE

PERFUME

Angel - 50ml bottle - 2560 baht
Angel for men - 50ml bottle - 1840 baht
Gucci - 50ml bottle - 2590 baht
Treson - 100ml bottle - 2100 baht

I priced all these perfumes before we left Australia and they were cheaper at Phuket Airport Duty Free. However since we have returned home I have discovered the Perfume Empire, now I will always check their prices first as a lot of their perfumes are much cheaper. You can order online and they also have shops in Melbourne, Sydney and Brisbane. (<http://www.perfumeempire.com.au/>)

DUTY FREE CIGARETTES

Benson & Hedges, Mild 7, Triple 5, London, all 550 baht per carton of 200

(Cigarettes in local shops are approximately 50 - 100 baht a packet and from street vendors about 50 - 60 baht a packet of 20)

You can buy alcohol at most of the little local supermarkets and all of the major ones. There is also a good distributor up Rat-U-Thit Rd past the Patong Merlin. Its on the other side of the road, look for the huge sign on top of a building on the corner advertising a cosmetic surgeon, go down that lane and its down a bit on the right. Bottles of bacardi were about 100 baht cheaper here than other places and they have a big selection of wine and beers. Its a great place to buy in bulk if you are staying for awhile. I have done up an alcohol price list which will be on the Shopping for Grog page.
